

CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGIST: NORTHERN PAIN CENTRE

An opportunity has become available for a consultant clinical psychologist to join our multidisciplinary team at Northern Pain Centre.

The successful candidate would work alongside our team of pain management specialists, psychologists, psychiatrists, physiotherapists. They would be responsible for managing their own clinical load without oversight from others, whilst operating in a multidisciplinary, collegiate environment where there is ample opportunity for teamwork, shared care with our pain specialists and psychiatrists, peer review, and mentoring. The opportunity to be a key component in our Empower Pain Management Program is also available.

We are seeking someone who has current registration with APHRA as a clinical psychologist (or is close to being certified) and who practises evidence-based treatment. Demonstrated knowledge and skills in the use of therapies such as Cognitive Behaviour Therapy, Interpersonal Therapy and Motivational Interviewing is required. Demonstrated clinical knowledge, skill and experience in the provision of clinical psychology interventions for patients with chronic pain is desired.

Our practice attracts a wide variety of clinical presentations relating to chronic pain, these include mood disorders (depression and bipolar), all anxiety presentations, trauma, and issues with self-esteem/identity.

Northern Pain Centre offers full receptionist and office support including appointments, billing, and clinical records management, along with an established referral base.

The opportunity to commence consulting is available immediately, however this is open to negotiation.

We are located in St Leonards, Brookvale and Bella Vista. The office is open from Monday to Friday, business hours.

Please note this is not an offer of employment but self-employment, where you control your own practice with admin and peer support and a strong referral base. You will function as an independent contractor. Decisions regarding appointments, workload and hours, fee structure and leave are at your discretion.
